SEVERAL MEANS OF DELAY

Earliest Date Trial Can Begin
Barring Legal Obstacles, Is January ?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The United States Steel corporation's first step in the legal battle with the government in its existence will be taken Monday, December 28, on that day an army counsel, among other promises include coming of the most brilliant legal minds in America will appear before the United States circuit court at Trenton, N. J. in which the government's dissolution suit has been brought.

On January 2, 1917, the steel corporation is ordered to file its answer to the government's charges.

Several legal maneuvers of which the steel corporation's lawyers could avail themselves may postpone the date of their answer, for they have the right to ask the court to give 30 days more grace, thus extending their time to February 2.

In the meantime, they may demand some of the government's allegations or they may file a bill of exceptions. Either action would delay automatically the actual beginning of the trial. The government expects that none of the formalities of law will be overlooked by its opponents. It is possible, however, that no legal technicalities may be thrown in the way, and in that case the earliest date upon which the trial can begin is January 22.

The procedure will be for Judge Gray, Laning and Buffington to appoint a master to hear testimony. The master so appointed will take evidence in various parts of the country. It required a year and a half to take the testimony in the Standard Oil case. That was considered fairly quick time. The government expects to do as well with the steel corporation.

When the taking of testimony is finished and both sides have been heard the court will decide the issue. Whichever side will appeal, and by the operation of the law, the appealing side the case will remain in the Department of Justice officials do not feel that the supreme court decisions in the oil and tobacco cases will decide the steel case. Attorney General Wickersham today declared that he is convinced more than ever that each case must be settled upon its own merits and that the oil and tobacco cases cannot fairly be called "models" for solving the trust ques-

Mr. Wickersham was asked today if he hoped to see business return to the conditions of competition which prevailed before the first trust came into existence.

"I do not," he replied. "I cannot because I do not think it possible. We cannot return to our swaddling clothes. We must readjust to a new set of conditions entirely."

"Do you think that can be done within the present laws, without further upsetting business," he was asked.

"I hope so," replied the attorney.

endeavored not attempted to exercise a monopoly or to restrain trade.

"That the conduct of the affairs of the corporation has clearly and positively negatived any effort or intention to violate any provision of the Sherman law.

"That the existence of the corporation has been of benefit and not of injury to its employees, its customers, its competitors and the general public.

"That no misrepresentation was made to the president relative to the Tennessee Coal and Iron properties and that the motive of those connected with the purchase was to prevent a threatened general financial disaster which would have adversely affected the corporation as well as others."

Statement Follows Conference.

The statement is the result of a conference held earlier in the day in which the participants were Chairman Gary, J. P. Morgan, Charles Steele and George F. Baker, directors of the corporation, as well as several of the legal representatives. Other than this, no word came from any official of the corporation.

It was at first the intention of the heads of the steel corporation to make

Taft Republican Club of Colorado Organized

DENVER, Oct. 27.—The Taft Republican Club of Colorado was organized permanently yesterday. Steps were taken to have branch clubs formed in every city and county in the state. The meeting, which was held in the ordinary of the Brown Palace hotel, was well attended, considering that there is a year's interval before an election. The club and its subsidiary organizations will stand upon the Taft policies and record. Fred O. Roof of Pueblo was elected president of the club and W. P. Chamberlain of Denver, secretary.

The following committees were named: Credentials and permanent organization, Senator Hayden of Walsenburg, A. W. McIndrie of Las Animas and M. E. Lewis of Fremont. Declaration of principles, Dr. Hubert Work of Pueblo, Judge George W. Dunn of Arapahoe and F. T. Vogel of Lincoln. Rules and by-laws, John P. Morgan of El Paso, C. M. Corlett of Rio Grande, and J. A. Barclay of Pueblo.

The Hayden committee on organization reported, and the report was adopted. The advisory committee be composed of the chairmen of the Republican county committees in the state and that the chairmen of the various county Taft clubs be vice presidents, together with the following vice presidents: J. L. Brush, Greeley; Judge Burke, Sterling; N. G. Breckenridge, Monte Vista; R. J. Bowman, Pueblo; Jefferson B. Fair, Walsenburg; E. W. Gladings, Colorado Springs; C. C. Goodale, Lamar; Chester S. Morey, Denver; Samuel D. Nielson, Leadville; K. C. Newton, Grand Junction; C. C. Parks, Glenwood Springs; Jesse G. Northcutt, Trinidad; O. H. Wangelin, Boulder; G. W. Dunn, Littleton.

BLACK EYE FOR FRISCO

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—A movement was started at the congress of the World's Purify federation today, the object of which is to influence people everywhere not to attend the Pacific coast exposition at San Francisco in 1915 unless the "Barbaric Coast," the tenebrous district of the city, is purged. C. C. Ward of Springboro, Pa., initiated the plan.

Boal Zoo and Clubs

The members of the Eastern Star circle were entertained last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Reasoner. Mesdames Parker and Seigel and the Misses Johnson and John assisted. The affair was a Halloween function and the decorating scheme was carried out to this end. A musical program was given.

A "harvest festival" will be held at the Ivywild Sunday school tomorrow, instead of the regular services. The Rev. Samuel C. Gorman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will speak at 4:45 o'clock. A special musical program will be given.

The Woodbine Sewing circle was entertained by Mrs. A. L. Lusk, 115 East Las Animas street, yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in sewing and embroidery, after which refreshments were served. Those present were: Mesdames Hans, Patton, Eycke, Gustafson, Cameron, Lusk, Anderson, Whitcheed, Mearns, Smith and McMichael. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Cameron, 238 North Custer street, Thursday afternoon, November 2.

IN OTHER WORDS, this end is in sight welcome news to people who need Fall and Winter Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Sweaters, Hosiery, Gloves, or in fact anything in the way of Men's or Boys' Wearing Apparel in other words the statement above comes just at a seasonable time. We are now at the threshold of Winter. The thought of cold days and nights strongly suggests Winter Clothes. When the clock strikes the hours of 10, on Saturday night, December 30th, the doors of the May Co. Store in Colorado Springs will close to reopen no more. Some months ago, after years of successful retailing, we decided to retire from business. Thanks to the people of El Paso county, we have had very little difficulty in disposing of the summer stock on hand at the time of that announcement. In one respect, however, we reckoned without our host. To make a long story short, the manufacturers with whom we had placed orders for Fall and Winter merchandise, absolutely refused to accept cancellation, stating as their reason that the goods in most respects had already been made up according to our orders placed many months in advance of the season, as is the custom of wide-awake merchants. We were face to face with a condition calling for quick action. Two ways were open to us. Either to refuse to accept these Winter goods, and defend a goodly number of lawsuits, or to accept, and throw same on the market at prices beyond duplication and which would be ruinous were we to continue in business. We did not hesitate, our decision you know. The quality of merchandise carried by The May Co. is well known. Your confidence in us, in our methods and our ability to live up to what we say is the proudest monument of our business career.

Savingly yours THE MAY CO

Brown Gives Up Liquor License for Spaulding

Ben Brown, lessee of the Spaulding house, yesterday surrendered his liquor license and asked the city council to return the unearned portion of his license fee amounting to $391.80, and his deposit of $500. The request was granted.

Brown wanted to assign the money to the Ziegler Brewing company, but before the city turned the cash over to him, attorneys secured an attachment for Brown's creditors. Brown has operated the Spaulding house for the last two months, succeeding John Leonard, whose liquor license was revoked by the city council early last spring.

At yesterday's meeting of the council, Mayor Avery appointed Roland Reed, a clerk in the water department's office, for a term not to exceed six days. A request of Mrs. Sampson, a chorewoman, that her license fee be reduced, was refused.

thus far, definitely to engage speakers. It may be said that already two of the best-known Baptists in America have signified their willingness and purpose to do it if their work will permit; or if they are not abroad at the time.

Dr. Clark Talks.

At 4 o'clock Dr. I. N. Clark of Kansas City, Mo., for 25 years secretary for foreign missions in Colorado, made a speech on "Twenty-five Years' Journeyings in Colorado," after which the following resolution was presented by Dr. J. H. Franklin:

"In view of the fact that at an early date the Rev. I. N. Clark, D. D., was complete a quarter-century of inspiring service in this section as district secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society, the Colorado Baptist convention would record its grateful appreciation of the work of this beloved brother, who has grown in the esteem and affection of his brethren, as he has labored to enlarge the vision of the people and lead them to a greater effort for Christian lands."

The convention congratulates Dr. Clark and the foreign mission society upon successful service these 25 years, which we believe will continue to yield returns through the coming days in the redemption of the world.

Unanimously adopted by the convention October 27, 1911.

The following delegates were named by the President Pullman to attend the National Association of Baptists in Washington, D. C.: Dr. A. H. Stockham, Dittus; D. D. Forward, Greeley; A. J. Finch, Denver; D. T. Kelly, Lamar, and G. Clifford Cross, Colorado City.

Criticize Wilson.

At the morning session yesterday, the convention went on record as being opposed to Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, inasmuch as he had accepted an honorary position with the Brewers' congress. The convention adopted the following resolution in that connection:

"Whereas, One of the members of the United Fruit company, who is president of the Brewers' congress recently held at Chicago, he it

"Resolved, That we, the Colorado Baptist convention, in session, do emphatically express our earnest protest against his action because it is inimicable to the best social, temperance and Christian interest of the nation."

Part of the morning session was devoted to memorial exercises conducted by the Rev. A. J. Finch of the Calvary Baptist church, Denver. Eulogies were given on the late Judge R. A. McNeill, Miss Julia Austin, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Wilkinson, Dr. Granville Malcolm, all of Denver, and the Rev. J. Q. Partee of Berthoud.

The principal address of the morning session was given by Dr. Hunt, who said in part:

Dr. Hunt's Address.

"This address has not to deal with the benefits beyond death, but with the values we get here and now. If we are impoverished in life it is not God's fault, not another's fault, but my fault alone. The prodigal's brother was the poorer of the two since he was a pauper living amid plenty. His spirit was wrong. One thing every Christian person should get out of his life is that he is not a pauper. We are determined to live this Christian life but we're not getting much fun out of it. If we do not get joy out of life it is not because it is not God's will. It is, therefore, friends, have it.

"Another enlightenment of the Christian life is peace. This is essential Christian life condition. Not indifference, not calloused sensibilities, not a negative surrender, but a peace that is the foundation of the everlasting. The God of peace is with us but we worry ourselves to weariness in looking at clouds and storm.

"Power is promised to us. If we are poor, weak, Christians it is because we are willing to be such. Power is a part of our heritage. God has willed it and when we will to have it the energy comes pouring in. The poorest, cast, most miserable life is the one not conscious of its poverty and shrivels, upsets amid surging billows of endless power.

"The man who gets most out of life is he who lives the life of simplicity. Too many are content to be hired men and live as such.

"It is a spiritual law that he who puts most into this life gets most out of it so that in large measure we are rich or poor through our own choices and purposes.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Rev. R. R. Adams, pastor of the Abury M. E. church, will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 8 o'clock, on "A Lucky Fellow." The Rev. M. Adams recently came to this city from Denver, where he held a pastorate for seven years. He is an interesting and powerful speaker. A feature of the meeting will be a vocal solo by Mrs. A. E. Flick. All men are invited.

MARRIAGE—Charles Keysburg and Miss Minnie Beaman were married Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bassett, 311 Portland avenue. Both are residents of Colorado Springs and will make their home in this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Irving Kohler. In the bridal party were Mrs. Ruth Dillon McCutcheon, Miss Stella Hothel, Robert Huckle and Roy Dillon.

APPRECIATIVE LETTERS SENT TO DRY CONGRESS HEADQUARTERS IN CITY

Outsiders who came to the International Dry Farming congress in this city appreciated the treatment they received, and are beginning to send in acknowledgments of the same. Two letters came to headquarters yesterday that are highly pleasing and are good samples. One of them is from the editor of Orange Judd Farmer, among the most powerful agricultural papers in the United States. Editor Shamel and Mrs. Shamel spent the week here. It will be seen that the big snowball of publicity that Colorado Springs has worked up through the congress is still rolling and cumulative. He says:

Shamel's Letter.
Chicago, October 24, 1911.
Mr. John T. Burns, Colorado Springs, Colo.
My dear Mr. Burns: I just returned from a very pleasant week at Colorado Springs. I want to take this occasion to express my appreciation of your treatment and also my other members of your force. I had a most satisfactory time in every particular. I enjoyed myself thoroughly, and got in touch with a lot of people whom I was anxious to meet.

I want to especially commend your press service. I have never attended a convention where this work was better done. You made it possible for editors who so desired to get complete returns promptly and to get accurate data. To be able to secure complete copies of a number of the leading addresses along with photographs of the authors, was more than I expected and was fully appreciated.

In Orange Judd Farmer of October 23 you will find a pretty complete preliminary report, and there is more still to follow. I believe that all of the newspaper men were just as greatly gratified as I was.

I want also to congratulate you on your reappointment as secretary to the congress, and to express the hope that, although the meeting goes to Canada next year, the congress will still be of the greatest possible value to the people of the United States.

I was also exceedingly pleased with the treatment on the part of the citizens of Colorado Springs. My wife and myself were nicely entertained in every possible way, and we both feel that the week was not only exceedingly pleasant but very profitable.

With very kindest regards to yourself and your good wife, I am,
Yours very truly,
CLARENCE A. SHAMEL,
Editor Orange Judd Farmer.

The following also is of interest:

From a Pueblo Company.
Pueblo, Colo., October 25, 1911.
John T. Burns, International Dry Farming Congress, Colorado Springs, Colorado.
In behalf of our company we wish to thank you very kindly for the many favors shown us and the pleasant deal recently had with your association while in your city, and wish to add that this has been one of the most pleasant deals of the kind we have ever had.

Our Mr. F. W. Burch also wishes to thank you for the many courtesies extended to him, while there, and to add that at any time he can be of service to you, in any of your public work, we trust you will not hesitate to call on us. We are, yours very truly,

Dies From Injuries Sustained in Trying to Coast Down Peak

George Dewalt, who was injured Wednesday afternoon while trying to toboggan down the Pikes Peak Cog road, died at St. Francis hospital at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Dewalt started from the summit house on a toboggan, and while rounding a curve at the saddle, his sled jumped the track, throwing him over the mountain side. After rolling about 100 feet he struck a large boulder and sustained internal and other injuries.

Dewalt was 31 years of age and unmarried. He lived at the Brookside rooming house, Tenth street and Colorado avenue, and was employed by the Cog road as a mechanic. He, together with three other men, was working on some scaffolding at the summit house Wednesday, and he started to take a short ride before returning to Manitou. The Cog road officials have issued strict orders that no one shall try to coast down the tracks, but nevertheless more than a dozen people have been injured in this way.

MORE MOVING PICTURES IN PIKES PEAK REGION

Once more Colorado Springs and its immediate vicinity are to be the background for moving picture players. A party of 15 actors, under the direction of R. S. Sturgeon, manager of the Vitaphone film company, arrived here over the Santa Fe in a special car yesterday.

Plays of all characters are to be staged in and about this city by the moving picture people. The picturesque beauty of the natural scenery in this region seems to be highly thought of by moving picture companies, as the Vitaphone troupe is the second which has roamed the mountains and canons of the district since last August.

After being here three weeks, the party will go on to the Grand cañon, and from there to Los Angeles, taking pictures at each place.

BANKRUPTCY CASES

Three creditors of the Hemenway Carriage company of this city have filed a petition in the United States district court in Denver, asking Judge Lewis to declare the carriage company bankrupt. The claims of the three creditors amount to about $1,250.

Harry T. Pincock, clerk of the Colorado Springs police department, has filed a voluntary petition for personal bankruptcy. He states his liabilities as $25,170 and his assets as $24,700.

Eminent German Author Praises Colorado Springs; "European War Certain"

Rudolf Herzog, one of Germany's leading authors, was in Colorado Springs yesterday as the guest of President W. F. Slocum and Professor George M. Howe of Colorado college. Herzog numbers the sales of his novels by the hundreds of thousands, and his writings are having a great influence on modern German life. He is traveling and lecturing in America at present under the auspices of the Germanistic Society of America, and he left last evening for Berkeley, Cal., where he will lecture before the University of California.

Herzog is much interested in America and the life there, but, in reply to a question if he considers the American life healthful he replied very definitely in the negative.

"The bane of American life," he said, "is the terrible haste which seems to pervade every American. The people take no time for the leisure which is necessary to the development of the best in their lives, and really cannot enjoy life in its deepest and truest sense as long as they permit themselves to be driven in this terrible way."

Concerning the recent war scare over the Morocco situation in Europe, Herzog expressed himself rather pessimistically.

"The one thing that prevented war in Europe over the Moroccan question this fall," he said, "was the fact that it had been a very dry summer, and it would have been impossible to find the necessary forage for the cavalry. I regard a European war as inevitable. It is simply a question of time, and then perhaps after that, with all its horrors, there will be peace and some steps toward disarmament."

Herzog was much impressed with the scenery about Colorado Springs, especially with the beauty of the Garden of the Gods with the near snow-capped mountains beyond.

"Such a scene as this," he said, "means much to the spirit of a poet."

HOW TO CURE BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison is a virulent germ, and like most other bacterial organisms is very difficult to kill or destroy within the system. It would therefore be useless to endeavor to cure the disease with some strong medicine intended to destroy the diseased blood cells and virus. The proper way—the only way—is to REMOVE the germs and poisons from the blood by purifying the circulation. Thousands have cured themselves of this powerful disease by the use of S. S. S., the greatest of all vegetable blood purifiers. This is a medicine of unquestioned ability in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison. For more than forty years it has been prepared and sold as a cure for this trouble, and not only its efficacy, but the fact that it does not contain a particle of mineral, or other harmful drug, should be an inducement to any Contagious Blood Poison sufferer to begin its use. S. S. S. goes right down into the circulation, and removes every trace of the destructive virus. It heals all sores, stops falling hair, and by cleansing and enriching the blood, soon clears the body of every symptom. S. S. S. cures to stay cured; there is no future breaking out of the disease. Home Treatment book and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

CONTEST STILL ON

Judges of election, called into the district court yesterday, to testify in the Colorado City election contest case, said that the ballots in the four precincts where illegal voting is alleged by the "dry" were not handled according to law.

The manner of numbering the ballots and names of the voters was the point raised, but the alleged irregularity permitted by the judges of election will have but little bearing, if any, in the final decision of the case. The law provides that the names on the poll list shall be written down in the order in which the ballots were deposited in the boxes. It is claimed this was not done.

Ballot boxes from four precincts were taken into the district court yesterday, and the keys turned over to Judge Sheaffer. They were not opened during the day, however, and last evening the court gave instructions that the boxes were to be locked up in a private room in the court house until wanted.

It is expected that the plaintiff in the case, designated as John Worley, will have introduced all his evidence by noon today. The defense, the city of Colorado ("the dry"), probably will not begin the presentation of its side until Monday.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Colorado Springs Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Colorado Springs who so testified years ago, how say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Colorado Springs kidney sufferers.

Mrs. Alfred Johnson, 513 E. Boulder St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I gladly confirm my former public endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever an opportunity occurs, we endorse this preparation. We procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the Butcher Drug Co. and their use in our family proved their great value for relieving pain in the back and correcting other troubles caused by the kidneys."

A STITCH IN TIME

The long winter nights with your magazine, the glare of the electric light or the feeble flame from a poorly trimmed wick, are some of the destructive elements that tend to aggravate defective eyes. Nearly 95 per cent of the human race of all ages suffer from eye defects in one way or another, yet many of them take no care to protect themselves from the results that must inevitably come from such strain.

If you are suffering from any of these defects call and have your eyes examined. Remember it costs you nothing to know and may save you great annoyance in the future.

APPOINTMENT PERMANENT

In the opinion of City Attorney McKesson, the appointment of S. D. Burno as chief of police for a period "not to exceed 90 days" is in violation of the city charter, and further, Burno, has been appointed to the office until the mayor of Colorado Springs resumes him of his resigns.

The city attorney holds that the appointment "not to exceed 90 days" fixes the limit to a term and accordingly is a violation both of the spirit and letter of the charter.

Mayor Avery said at yesterday's city council meeting that Chief Burno was appointed temporarily, not longer than 90 days, with a view of determining at the end of that period whether he is the man for the place. "If he is to continue in office after that time," Avery said, "he must be renominated and reappointed."

New Chief of Police.

It was pointed out, however, that in accordance with the city attorney's interpretation of the charter, the appointment is effective until removal or resignation.

Commissioner Himebaugh, who recommended Burno, said that if the new chief does not make good he will recommend his removal.

In commenting upon Burno's appointment, Mayor Avery brought up the question of his eligibility under civil service rules, pointing out that Burno lives in Trinidad, which is not a part of Colorado Springs proper. He was of the opinion no one is eligible for appointment to office unless he has lived here six months. It was found, however, that the rule does not apply to chief of police, chief of the fire department, city engineer and other heads of departments in the "noncompetitive class."

OBSERVE INSIGNIA DAY

"Insignia day," when the seniors don cap, gown and dignity, was celebrated at chapel exercises at Colorado college yesterday morning. The day was observed unusually early this year, in order that President Slocum might attend, he leaving for the coast next week.

In chapel exercises yesterday morning the juniors, dressed in mourning and keeping step to a drum, marched down the center aisle of the hall and formed a double line through which marched the seniors, attired in cap and gown. After they were seated the solemn ceremonies of burying the hatchet were carried out.

Immediately after the exercises the seniors rushed out for their last class frolic and ran over the campus playing various games for half an hour.

A big reception and meeting was held at the Colorado Springs Golf club last night. President and Mrs. Slocum, the faculty, senior and junior classes attending. The juniors presented the picture of President Slocum to the senior class.

Once more Colorado Springs and its immediate vicinity are to be the background for moving picture players. A party of 15 actors, under the direction of R. S. Sturgeon, manager of the Vitaphone film company, arrived here over the Santa Fe in a special car yesterday.

Plays of all characters are to be staged in and about this city by the moving picture people. The picturesque beauty of the natural scenery in this region seems to be highly thought of by moving picture companies, as the Vitaphone troupe is the second which has roamed the mountains and canons of the district since last August.

After being here three weeks, the party will go on to the Grand cañon, and from there to Los Angeles, taking pictures at each place.

THE DAY'S NEWS IN SPORT CIRCLES

BOXING GAME IN WEST IS DEPENDENT UPON THE EAST

New York Fight Fans Think Bat Nelson Is Still the Durable Dane of Old

By HARRY B. SMITH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—What is to become of the boxing game in California? It was asked of Jimmy Frawley, the other day.

It depends, said that astute promoter, upon events in the east, and particularly in New York. If the lawley bill that legalizes 10-round fights in New York is repealed, as has been suggested by Governor Dix, I am extremely optimistic of the future of sport out here in the west. But, on the other hand, if the game comes in New York, it will be several years before we are back on our feet.

Champion boxers like the limited-time game beat, and they have good reasons. Their liking is so strong that they will take less money in New York for 10 rounds than they would for 15 rounds in California.

In the first place, the effort for rounds is not as great as for 20, 15, again, they are not compelled to go so strenuously. And, what is more important, they are not taking the same chances of losing their prize. A champion is not necessarily a hard physically, but still, when he is attained that prominence, he has the possibility of being knocked out and losing his money-making power. He knows that it is going to be a hard matter to knock him out in 10 or 15 rounds, but it might come out in 20 rounds. That's one end of the proposition and the reason why can't attract the big men in California to San Francisco.

From the other standpoint, you must remember that California has been premier in boxing for the past 30 years. We have had the best of the men, because they could not appear in other localities. That means the public has been educated to high-class boxing, and when you have been accustomed to major league bouts all your life, as is the case with a majority of the present fans, you can't easily accustom yourself to class D matches. In other words, bouts between second and third-raters will not attract big houses. In time, the spectators will become accustomed to the nation, but not for a couple of years.

And that is why I say the future of the sport in the west depends upon action in New York. If the Frawley bill is repealed it will mean the barring of boxing matches for many months. Not even the same liberality was permitted before the Frawley bill was allowed. Such action would drive the boxers of first magnitude to the west. On the other hand, if boxing continues in New York, we will have to bide our time.

All of which is about as clever a view of the situation as one could take.

All of the papers with reviews of the Battling Nelson bout, with one exception, are now at hand, and it must be confessed that the papers received from the Battling Nelson, and before favorable to his own appearance.

The interesting feature of it all is the fact that these western critics, who probably have never had the pleasure of watching Nelson "bore in," are attempting the colossal task of telling a dear public whether or not the man is as good as ever he was. Further, it must be confessed that they have boldly jumped the hurdle of the declaration that Battling Nelson is still almost as good as he was. Flat this day's verdict of the western

ORISIS WILL BOWL AT BRUNSWICK MONDAY

There will be a match game bowled at the Brunswick alley Monday night, the Brunswick league, consisting of about 15 members. The bowlers have league of their own, and are lining up for the winter season. On Tuesday night there will be a game between the City Hall and the Brunswick bowlers, on the latter's alley. Bowlers in Colorado Springs are organizing a commercial league, which is planned to start in a few days.

SELECTING NEW MANAGERS NO EASY TASK FOR CLUB OWNERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—August Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati baseball club and chairman of the national commission, is in a quandary as to the retention of Clark Griffith as manager of the Reds. Mr. Herrmann thought he had made up his mind several months ago to let Griffith out, and was partly convinced that he was not in error, he says, by the Cincinnati critics, who usually direct the Reds' affairs from the grandstand. In fact, Mr. Herrmann went so far as to have several confabs with C. W. Murphy of the Chicago Cubs, relative to the possible engagement of Joe Tinker or Johnny Evers to succeed Griffith in command of the Reds. Negotiations proceeded to such a degree that a week ago the release of Griffith was formally predicted by a certain Red-land person who usually accompanies Mr. Herrmann wherever the latter goes, and also has the Cincinnati magazine's red morning, noon and night.

"The Reds played great ball the last eight weeks of the season," said Griffith, at the Hotel Wolcott yesterday, "and they also won the championship of Ohio from the Clevelanders, but that doesn't help me any, because Mr. Herrmann's shadow has announced that I cannot remain at the head of the team. I have no plans for the future and don't expect to have any just yet."

Up at the Waldorf-Astoria Mr. Herrmann smiled when Griffith's remarks were repeated to him. The Cincinnati magazine declared that he personally hadn't released Griffith, and, furthermore, he surprised a dozen baseball men with these words:

"I received a letter a couple of days ago, signed by every member of the Cincinnati Reds, protesting against the release of Clark Griffith. There wasn't an exception. The players declared that Griffith wasn't to blame for injuries and hard luck and that all of them desired his retention. It isn't often that a manager receives such a strong recommendation, and naturally this letter has not me aggressive. The Reds certainly played great ball in August and September, and many persons then were ready to give Griffith another chance. I haven't decided what I shall do, and I'm not going to be in a hurry. Griffith is a hard worker and is entitled to square treatment. I won't say whether I will keep him or not, but say that letter from the Cincinnati players was a big figure with me just now."

Griffith and Herrmann are unable to patch things up, unless Griffith sticks to his determination to get away from Porttown. It is said that the St. Louis Americans are ready to sign him.

while he has a chance to buy a half interest in the Providence Eastern league club and manage the team. Hugh Duffy, who manages the Chicago White Sox this year, has received his notice to quit from President Comiskey.

Duffy, too, is after the Providence franchise. Comiskey has decided to turn the management of the White Sox over to Jimmy Callahan, according to Ben Johnson, who generally knows Callahan is a shrewd fellow, whose days as a ball player are mostly over. He is a promoter of baseball ability, and Comiskey thinks he is a valuable asset. Hugh Ebbett, the Chicago critic, on the other hand, says Callahan is not the man for the job, and will not produce results that can equal Duffy's achievements.

The clean sweep of four victories over the Cubs in Chicago has put the White Sox on a pinnacle once more. Comiskey's friends have arranged a big celebration of the victory. The Cubs are shot to pieces, and the American league men say the team will be a second division outfit next season. Incidentally, American leaguers are gloating over the victory of the Cardinals in St. Louis. They are disappointed by the work of the Clevelanders against the Cincinnati, which, they predicted, would be easy for the Naps.

Mr. McIntosh will put deals through as he outlined. Australian Fight Promoter Is Not Broke As Rumor Has It—Boxing Gossip.

By T. S. ANDREWS.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 27.—Phony isn't it, how some people delight to hear of their fellow beings losing their jobs and being what the sports call "down and out"? There have been persistent reports for the past five months, ever since Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, announced his intention of leaving England and devoting his time and energies this season to boxing in the antipodes, that he had gone broke on the stock exchange in London, that he could not put through any big deals, and all such rot. These reports were doubtless the result of jealous rivals.

Mr. McIntosh has arrived in Sydney, and only recently learned of the rumors set afloat, both in this country and England, and he has addressed the following letter to "The Editor":

"Since my departure from England I find that a number of statements of a detestable nature have been circulated in respect to my recent London season. I also read about my alleged 'bust' of British crowds, but I gave answer to it, and hoped that it would be the last lie I would be called on to hurl back. But it appears that I am to be disappointed in this respect, and it has come to my knowledge that for some ulterior motive, my detractors have set about the rumor that in consequence of an unexpected support in Great Britain and on the continent, he had denied me my financial position has been threatened. Under ordinary circumstances I would be inclined to treat such contemptible lies in the manner deserved, but realizing that the stories are circulated with the object of placing obstacles in my way in respect to entering upon contracts for my Australian season, I resent the artful methods of a black hand crew to assassinate my reputation.

"I have never yet backed in any venture I have undertaken. My past achievements have been due to my own efforts and money and no assistance from an outside source will be required by me while in the fight business. That I am now entering upon the biggest season ever undertaken in the antipodes is sufficient refutation of such dastardly rumor, which had for its object my 'business' reputation wrecked and baffling me in the eyes of the sporting world. That such treatment should be meted out by individuals who desire to be classified as sports is beyond my comprehension. The fact that I have advanced several thousand dollars in fares alone and put up several more thousand in guarantees to boxers should be proof enough that I am not backing up.

"The story about my abuse of British sports is not true. I have been misquoted badly. While I may have conveyed the impression that some sports are the worst in the world, this reference was only made to apply to an episode which occurred in connection with one of my eliminatory bouts, when a crowd of roughs endeavored to take possession of things generally. I have the highest regard for the British sporting people, and also the American sporting people, but I do not class them with bands of toughs.

"As for that story about my losing my money in speculation, why, it is ridiculous. The fact of the matter is that my operations on the stock exchange in London turned me a net profit of one stock story of Harrow's. Profits of $1,500 for fifteen months' operations. It matters not about the gain, but while they see fit to start such reports you might as well have the truth. If I was broke I suppose it would be an easy matter to pass an advance passage of over $5,000 from London to Sydney and put up a guarantee of many thousands of dollars for Jack Johnson's tour of the world, which I had arranged.

"Well, let's have something more pleasant now, but I wish you would simply deny the scurrilous reports, for they are nothing else.

"The season here promises bigger than ever and will outshine that of last year when you were here. There were over 15,000 people at the stadium to see Jack Lester and Bill Lewis fight. Lester is a fine youngster and will make me of his weight hurdle. The New York people wanted Lester to go over and meet Jim Flynn, but he preferred to remain here, and Tommy Burns, his manager, is on his way here to handle him. I was glad to sign up Jim Flynn. Jimmy Clabby and Tony Capone (Capone and Flynn have backed out), and wish I could get Johnny Thompson, for he is a great card here after his defeat of Billy Eganke and others. Sam McVey is here and should prove a big draw. I expected Sam Langford and Joe Woodman, over also. I could use a good lightweight over here, for there are several fine matches in sight for one. At Kaufmann signed a contract, but has been fit to break it, which is a big mistake, for he would have made a great deal of money here. I hope to get over to the states after the present season ends, and will then show some of the detractors whether I am broke or not. I am glad to see the game legalized in New York and hope the promoters will be sensible and keep the game clean and build it up."

The faraway Australian country must have made a big hit with the American boxers who were there last season, with the possible exception of Billy Papke, for every one of them wants to get back again. Jimmy Clabby has gone back under a fine contract and has taken his younger brother, who is a good 130-pounder, with him, and Ray Bronson of Indianapolis would like to go also in fact, if Ray can make the right kind of a bargain he is ready to start this fall. Now comes Cyclone Johnny Thompson of Syracuse, Ill., with the bee buzzing for the antipodes. When Johnny first landed in Sydney he said he would count the days when he could get back to the U. S. A., but he had not been back here three months when he was planning a trip back to Australia. Johnny has signed a contract to fight six bouts for Hugh D. McIntosh, and will leave with his wife and two children from Vancouver November 1, reaching there just before Christmas and in time for the big contests.

PLACEMENT GOAL SCORED BY ARMY ELEVEN IN PRACTICE AT WEST POINT. Action picture of play which soldiers will depend upon to beat Navy. The photographer has snapped his camera at a critical moment in a successful attempt to score a goal from placement. This play will figure largely in the Army attack against the Navy this fall for gridiron honors. The camera shows the Army quarterback on the ground as he held the ball received on the pass from center, and just as it has been kicked between the goal posts by the fullback. The opposing line is just breaking through the defense in a vain attempt to block the kick. The defense left halfback is shown in the air above the Army quarterback in his desperate effort to intercept the ball. The line is broken and dismembered by the heroic efforts of the individuals.

Terror-Victor Game Canceled

Owing to weather conditions yesterday afternoon, and also because of the guarantee demanded, there will be no football game at Washburn field this afternoon between the Terrors and the Victor High school.

While the game here has been called off, the Terrors second team will go to Cripple Creek this morning to play the gold camp eleven.

The two important games in the state today in college ranks will be between Boulder and Wyoming and Denver and South Dakota. Both games promise to be close with the advance dope favoring the two Colorado teams. Colorado college has no game scheduled for today, and with the High school match canceled, there will be several practice at Washburn field. Next week Coach Rothgeb will devote all of his time to perfecting new plays for the big Boulder game to be played November 1. The game will be played at Gamble field and will be the most important on the Tiger schedule this season.

DENVER AND DAKOTA EXPECT HARD GAME

DENVER, Oct. 27.—South Dakota's husky football players arrived in Denver this afternoon and proceeded to Broadway field, where they were put through a strenuous practice in preparation to meet the squad from Denver university tomorrow afternoon.

The South Dakotans outweigh Denver university men by several pounds, and the game will undoubtedly be the hardest fought of any seen here this season.

RYAN AND MACK TO MEET ON MAT SOON

Tom Ryan, the Chicago and Kansas City light-heavyweight wrestling champion, has agreed to a match with Jimmy Mack of this city. The bout will take place in about two weeks, probably in Woodman hall, if present plans are carried out.

Ryan, who is about 30 pounds heavier than Mack, has agreed to a handicap and guarantee to throw the local mat-man twice in 30 minutes or be declared the loser. Within the last few days the Chicagoan has completed work on his training quarters, which he proposes to keep open in Colorado Springs this winter, and will also teach physical culture under his own system.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 27.—The first disqualification of the Laurel meeting came in the running of the fourth race today, when Joe Kenyon crowded Ilma at the start and, after finishing in the lead by several lengths, was placed out of the money.

There will be a new style of novelty race offered on Monday in a five-mile event for automobiles, motorcycles and an airplane.

BRUNSWICK BOWLERS DEFEATED CITY HALL

Through a typographical error yesterday, it was stated that the City Hall bowling team won from the Brunswick five Thursday night by a margin of 23 pins. Credit should have been given the Brunswick team, however, as they won the match by the number of pins saved, 22. In the series of three games the City Hall team took the first, 97 to 80, but the two remaining games went to the Brunswick bowlers 738-762 and 881-839 respectively. The totals were Brunswick 2,520, City Hall 2,508.

Because a purse of $10,000 was all that the promoters could offer, Wolcott and Wells refuse to fight 10 rounds. It appears to us that this is some pure loss for a bout. It is more than Wolcott and Nelson got for going 40 rounds in San Francisco.

SUFFRAGETTES OUT TO WATCH FIGHTERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The Longacre Athletic club gave a boxing exhibition tonight, the chief feature of which did not center on the contest as much as in the presence of a large number of women. It was suffragettes, night at the club, and there were fully as many women as men present. The women did not seem at all uneasy over bloody noses and solar plexus wallop that occasionally landed a boxer on the floor.

Mrs. Gus Rühling, wife of the prize fighter, was mistress of ceremonies. The women were given the best seats about the ring. One of the suffragettes made a speech from the ring between the bouts.

Australian Fight Promoter Is Not Broke As Rumor Has It—Boxing Gossip

By T. S. ANDREWS.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 27.—Phony isn't it, how some people delight to hear of their fellow beings losing their jobs and being what the sports call "down and out"? There have been persistent reports for the past five months, ever since Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, announced his intention of leaving England and devoting his time and energies this season to boxing in the antipodes, that he had gone broke on the stock exchange in London, that he could not put through any big deals, and all such rot. These reports were doubtless the result of jealous rivals.

Mr. McIntosh has arrived in Sydney, and only recently learned of the rumors set afloat, both in this country and England, and he has addressed the following letter to "The Editor":

"Since my departure from England I find that a number of statements of a detestable nature have been circulated in respect to my recent London season. I also read about my alleged 'bust' of British crowds, but I gave answer to it, and hoped that it would be the last lie I would be called on to hurl back. But it appears that I am to be disappointed in this respect, and it has come to my knowledge that for some ulterior motive, my detractors have set about the rumor that in consequence of an unexpected support in Great Britain and on the continent, he had denied me my financial position has been threatened. Under ordinary circumstances I would be inclined to treat such contemptible lies in the manner deserved, but realizing that the stories are circulated with the object of placing obstacles in my way in respect to entering upon contracts for my Australian season, I resent the artful methods of a black hand crew to assassinate my reputation.

"I have never yet backed in any venture I have undertaken. My past achievements have been due to my own efforts and money and no assistance from an outside source will be required by me while in the fight business. That I am now entering upon the biggest season ever undertaken in the antipodes is sufficient refutation of such dastardly rumor, which had for its object my 'business' reputation wrecked and baffling me in the eyes of the sporting world. That such treatment should be meted out by individuals who desire to be classified as sports is beyond my comprehension. The fact that I have advanced several thousand dollars in fares alone and put up several more thousand in guarantees to boxers should be proof enough that I am not backing up.

"The story about my abuse of British sports is not true. I have been misquoted badly. While I may have conveyed the impression that some sports are the worst in the world, this reference was only made to apply to an episode which occurred in connection with one of my eliminatory bouts, when a crowd of roughs endeavored to take possession of things generally. I have the highest regard for the British sporting people, and also the American sporting people, but I do not class them with bands of toughs.

"As for that story about my losing my money in speculation, why, it is ridiculous. The fact of the matter is that my operations on the stock exchange in London turned me a net profit of one stock story of Harrow's. Profits of $1,500 for fifteen months' operations. AUTOMOBILE NUISANCES

IN appointing Mr. Burns Chief of Police the other day the Mayor said that he expected him to enforce all the laws. It remains to be seen whether he will do this or not. There are some ordinances that we hope to see the new head of the police enforce with considerable more strictness than has been done in the immediate past. We refer particularly to the traffic regulations. At present they are disregarded by careless drivers with impunity, and narrow escapes from serious accidents are constantly happening. According to law a vehicle is not supposed to cut across a corner, but to keep straight ahead on the right side until in the middle of the street it is turning into. This wise regulation is violated many times an hour on all the busy corners of the city to the imminent peril of those using the streets. There are many other rules that have become dead letters, but it is not our purpose to enumerate them all.

The ordinance regulating motor vehicles is not all that it should be. In most of the cities of the eastern states and foreign countries there are laws against running without mufflers, against smoking exhausts and against loud horns as well as against excessive speed. Of the above we have only a speed ordinance and it has not been enforced for a long time. In fact it has never been really enforced at all. Occasionally in the past a policeman has arrested somebody for speeding, in nearly every case someone who was going only a mile or two more than the law allowed and who was not one of the chronic scorchers who habitually travel up and down Cascade avenue at thirty or forty miles an hour.

When Commissioner Himebaugh was asked recently why he did not enforce the speed law he replied that it was hard to enforce. This is a rather puerile excuse for a lack of efficiency. We cannot see why this law is any harder to enforce than the laws against larceny, for example. If thieves could operate at will they would be extremely common, but a thief knows that at least an attempt will be made to catch and convict him and does not steal something any time he feels like it. If the scorchers knew that he would be prosecuted if caught he would slow down and be careful. A policeman in plain clothes spending a few hours a day on Cascade avenue could soon find out who the worst offenders were and then would be able to hale them into court and deal with them as they deserve. Incidentally, if he were on the street in the early evening, he would see how few chauffeurs take the trouble to light their lamps until long after dark.

CANADIAN GROWTH

THE official statement, based on the recently completed Canadian census, that between the years 1906 and 1909 the United States contributed only 73,000 population to Canada disproves a variety of absurd stories that have been printed concerning what is generally believed to have been a veritable exodus. Thanks to the energy and resourcefulness of the Canadian land boomers, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan have been pictured in American minds as the land of promise, a place where anybody and everybody can get rich in a few months with very little trouble and the expenditure of almost no capital.

Of course there is a great deal of truth in the stories told by the Canadian boosters. Western Canada is unquestionably a wonderfully fertile agricultural region, susceptible to much the same sort of development that has come to the Mississippi Valley states. In the last seven or eight years, or so, its possibilities became known, it has experienced the rapid growth usual in the opening of a new and rich farming territory. It will continue to grow, though perhaps not at the present extraordinary rate, and within the next quarter century will support many large cities and a prosperous rural population.

But it is absurd to say that Western Canada will at least within our own time support a population equal to that of like area in the Mississippi Valley today, for its rigorous climate is an obstacle to such development which never can be overcome. It is easy to dwell on the opportunities of big money making in the operation of thousand-acre wheat farms, but it will not be many years until the settlement of the country will make such farms a luxury only for the rich, and farming will get down to the matter-of-fact basis on which it rests in the United States. And when that condition obtains the question before the farmer will be whether he prefers to live in a temperate climate or one which, to put it mildly, is extremely rigorous through a very long winter. His opportunities for money making probably will be no greater in one country than in the other.

THE WORLD'S NEXT BIG GRANARY. The recently completed Canadian census shows a total population of a little less than 7,150,000, which is a gain of about 33 per cent over the showing for 1901. This is another surprise, for the stories of the Canadian boom had justified an assumption that the country had almost doubled in population within the last decade. In point of fact the percentage of gain has not been much greater than that of the United States in almost the same period, which was 22.7 per cent.

Nevertheless, some of the western provinces have experienced a truly remarkable growth. Alberta and Saskatchewan have increased manifold, while British Columbia has doubled in population and Manitoba has increased 78 per cent. In the eastern provinces there is a different story to tell. Prince Edward Island has lost population and most of the others have remained practically stationary. Quebec has gained 20 per cent and Ontario 15 per cent by reason of immigration from Europe and the fecundity of the French-Canadian population. The western provinces have grown at the expense of those in the east.

It was only a few years ago that the United States was the granary of Europe; indeed, most of our own people have not yet got this idea out of their minds. There is still a current belief that we produce enough grain to feed the peoples overseas, but the fact is that our grain exports are steadily shrinking, because of the enormous increase in the home consumption. A nation of 90,000,000 people which is enjoying a steady growth of ten or twelve millions each decade, has no small task to feed itself, let alone care for the wants of other countries. It is plain that the time is not far distant when the United States will have no grain at all for export, and we need look no further than the middle of the present century when we probably shall be importing food for our own population of 150,000,000 or more.

These figures show the opportunity before Western Canada. More and more it will take the place of the Mississippi Valley as the source of wheat supply for America and Europe.

FROM OTHER PENS

A MUCKRAKER MUCKED.

From the Springfield Republican. Some of the muckrakers thumped the plunderbund harder than the one whose bankruptcy reveals the fact that it was accustomed to pay dividends out of capital instead of earnings.

AN AMERICANIZED NAVY.

From the Philadelphia Press. From time to time certain European authorities on modern naval conditions reflect their chests of criticism regarding the personnel of the American navy. This innocent pessimism is based on the allegation that the American naval forces are mainly recruited from aliens who are devoid of any pretense of patriotism. These Rip Van Winkles of the sea may find themselves awake when they scan the latest statistics of the American navy. No less than 95 per cent of the 47,000 men in the service are Americans. Consequently the task of weeding out aliens which is being undertaken under direction of Secretary Meyer is not a formidable one.

AFTER-HOLIDAY ILLNESS.

From the New York Evening Post. Post-holiday illness is a phenomenon often noted by physicians. A London doctor has recently stated that the business time of the medical profession is at the close of summer vacations. Some of my patients have walked too far, others have exhausted themselves with climbing, others have eaten in draughts on trains or steamers and returned to town with bad colds. We believe that the after-vacation, or autumn, cold is well known in New York. It may be due in part to the changeable season of the year and to the starting up of fires sporadically, so that one finds certain rooms or cars overheated and others chilly. But we have heard of another hypothesis. It is that people who have been away in pure and bracing air are peculiarly susceptible to the germs of influenza which they encounter on their return. Whether this be true, the fact of the prevalence of minor ailments after the holiday time of the year has been frequently observed. Serious infection, notably typhoid, is sometimes brought back from camp or country, but it is the more trifling diseases, of which so many seem to be the victims, which are the holiday that have led to the idea that there is need of a short recuperative period after recuperation.

WEST POINT CANDIDATES.

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Districts where the congressional campaigns for local examinations of candidates for cadetships at West Point will find it difficult to credit the caliber of those sent up from some other sections. An interesting revelation is made by Major General Barry, superintendent of the academy, in his annual report, quoting freely from the answers to examination papers submitted by some of the young hopefuls. These papers disclose the poorest spelling and most distorted composition possible to conceive, while the ignorance of the candidates fully equals their orthodoxy and obedience. Robert Barry is quoted as saying that a great many of the candidates are "dumb as a post" and "stupid as a pig." An examination of the papers shows that Waterloo was fought between Napoleon and Lord Wellington." and another imparts the information that the Macedonian phalanx and the Roman legion battled at Crete. Of Walt Whitman one says, "The writer for all the newspapers." General Jackson and Lee are named as antagonists at the battle of Princeton and Monticuli, and Wolf at the battle of Trenton.

TRUST LAW GOOD BUT UNENFORCED.

From the Brooklyn Eagle. Everywhere in this country, in state and nation, we have law enough for all practical purposes. What is wanted is intelligent, impartial and fearless enforcement of the law we have. The business world waited long for a ruling by the supreme court on the application of the Sherman antitrust act to the great combinations of commerce. The ruling came in due course. It is no exaggeration to say that it lifted a pall that had settled down upon business, that it relieved suspense, that it cleared the atmosphere of clouds of doubt and apprehension. Corporations now know where they stand. They know what they may and what they may not do. They know, for instance, that the principles of concentration and consolidation upon which they have been established are not in contravention of the law. They know also that the practices of the Standard Oil and the American Tobacco companies, grinding and gouging the small competitor and seeking to create an absolute monopoly of the market, cannot be repeated in their own cases save at the risk of the penalty of dissolution visited upon both of those gigantic corporations. Why not assume that the law which was able to reach out and punish the iniquities the existence of which can be legally proved? Why seek to amend when the necessity for amendment has not been made clear?

The ultimate issue of the position adopted by those who insist upon the amendment of the Sherman law is that every combination of capital definable as a trust must be utterly destroyed. Even the good trusts for which Colonel Roosevelt has more than once stood sponsor, would have to go. There would be no exceptions, and the consequences might appear even those who recklessly precipitated them. The president puts his administration squarely on record as opposed to the harassment of what is now legitimate business. The best judgment of the country, regardless of party preferences, will applaud his stand. It will be time enough to talk of pure lawmaking when it can be shown that corporate enterprise, moving in devious channels, is evading the plain provisions of the law we now have. Meanwhile, given business an opportunity to adjust itself to the healthy conditions established by the supreme court decisions. This the president demands. This the country would prefer to another period of uncertainty and unrest due to unwise, because unnecessary legislation.

When the bill collector calls on you in your marble halls, tell her that you're glad to see her, that you like to pay your bills, hand her out the shining coins like a prince of gentia lads, and you'll fill her gentle bosom with the sweetest kind of thrill. You may be of high estate, you may have a thousand virtues of the most engaging sort, but you'll win an ugly fame, if you play the rough's game. If you greet the bill collector with an angry roar and snarl, wickedness my bosom fills, but I always pay my bills, and the girl collectors boost me till I have a fair renown, and mean no ill to get out, but the blessed damns shout forth in praise with such vigor that they echo through the town. If you want to pile up fame, if you want to win a name as the most angelic creature known outside the Jasper walls, just dip up a dazzling smile and disburse your little pile with a brave and buoyant manner when the bill collector calls.

THE BILL COLLECTOR.

THE DAILY CHIT CHAT.

Yes, said the lady who always knows somehow, she is a very good optimist about other people's troubles.

Did you ever meet that kind of an optimist?
Of course you have.

For some of him or her is to be found in every community.

The dressmaker telephones you that she has found she can't possibly get your gown done in time for the wedding. It is the first new "wed dress" you have had for four years and you had been looking forward to appearing in it at quite an event. Yearning for warm human sympathy, you foolishly tell the other people's optimist about it and she gives you instead the cold comfort of vicarious optimism.

"Oh, well, you'll have it for the next wedding (an indeterminate distant event). And, anyhow, your blue dress looks very well. (You have worn that gown to every formal event since you were married.) Besides, no one will be looking at you at a wedding anyhow, so it doesn't matter. Everyone looks at the bride."

Or you are suffering agonies from rheumatism in your hand and whenever she sees you, instead of sympathizing with your pain, she works herself up into a frenzy of thankfulness that it was your left and not your right hand.

There is a pathetic little woman in my acquaintance who was left all alone in the world many years ago by the death of her only daughter and her husband. Since then she has supported herself by "accommodating" and in her case the work she does really more than justifies the word, for there are many, many households where people say, "We don't know what we should have done in such and such a time of trouble if it hadn't been for Mrs. B."

This woman was telling me about her bereavement one day and she ended by saying, "Well, Miss Ruth, I don't suppose it's Christian for me to feel so badly. Miss Bemis, who always tells me to feel so badly, she says I should feel better. I ought to be thankful that because of my bereavement I have been placed so that I could help a great many people in time of need, and that I ought to think of that when I'm tempted to feel ungrateful."

Now, as it happens, Miss Bemis herself has recently lost through illness a very comfortable berth which she held for many years and has been obliged to take up somewhat the same sort of work that Mrs. B. has done for so many years. And strange to say, her appreciation of the opportunity to be of service is swallowed up in resentment and ungratification that it is painful to come in contact with.

I think it all too frequently the case that the optimist about other people's troubles is a pessimist about his own.

No, of course, we don't like the person who always has some pessimistic thing to say about our troubles and always looks on the dark side of things.

What we do like is the man or woman who can mix sympathy and encouragement in just the right proportion to make a good cordial for our despondent spirits.

We don't like to have our troubles magnified, but still less do we like to have them made light of. Most of us at least.

THE CIVIL WAR 50 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 28, 1861.

Twenty-five picked men from the U. S. S. Louisiana, led by Lieut. Alfred Hopkins, undertook a reckless adventure on the night of the 28th. A number of Confederate vessels were known to be repairing in Chincoteague Inlet, Va., Chincoteague Inlet is narrow and crooked; its banks were, in fact, by Confederate soldiers; there were several camps along the shore and a battery of two New Yorks, Lieut. Hopkins and his men determined upon penetrating to the vessels and destroying them.

They started up the inlet at night in three boats. They did not go far before they were discovered and fired upon. They kept on, gained the place where the vessels were repairing, and deliberately set to work to cut out one of them to take back to the ship as a token. They did not succeed until the gathering of Confederates on shore made it absurd to go any further. They contained themselves with firing three of the vessels, and made their way back to the Louisiana without casualty.

Asa T. Pratt of Baintree, Mass., was ridden on a rail by his neighbors and fellow townsmen. He had expressed sympathy with secession in a Democratic convention recently held at Dedham.

The Fifth New Hampshire, Col. Edward E. Cross, broke camp near Concord, N. H., and left for Washington. The regiment was fully clothed and provisioned and equipped throughout with Enfield rifles.

The legislature of Missouri passed an act of secession. Feeling was at high tension, popular sentiment being evenly divided.

Colorado City DENOUNCE MAYOR'S ACTION

Resolutions denouncing the actions of Mayor F. J. Hamble, in accepting a commission of $50 for the sale of the old city hall, have been passed by the Colorado City Business Men's association. The hall was sold about a week ago to A. C. Clothier, for $1200. A number of the citizens say that, according to a city ordinance, this bill, which comes under the head of miscellaneous, cannot be allowed by the council before the middle of the month succeeding that in which it was read.

It was reported at the meeting of the association that representatives of an eastern firm will arrive in a few days to look over the situation, with a view of erecting a municipal light plant. The Colorado City Ice company also is interested in the proposition. The following committee was appointed to look into the matter: Albert Allen, Duncan Lamont, J. J. McCormick, J. R. Thrasher and A. G. Golin.

A smoke will be given in Mack's hall, Thursday evening, November 2, to which the Manitou Hot Iron club will be invited.

KILLED AT HARTSEL.

Harry Jackson, nephew of Mrs. J. K. Luce, 107 Mantolow avenue, was killed by the explosion of a gasoline engine in the Hollis mills, at Hartsel, where he was employed, according to word received here yesterday. No particulars concerning the accident could be obtained last night. The body will be brought to this city today.

ROBBED OF $17.65.

N. Letten of 424 Colorado avenue, reported to the police yesterday that he had been robbed of $17.65. He engaged an unknown colored man to press a number of suits yesterday morning. At noon he paid him his wages and left his pocketbook lying on a table while he went into a back room. At this time a customer came in for his suit. Letten says when he returned, the pocketbook and both men were gone.

Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Letten found the pocketbook lying on the floor in another room. A search for the negro was made in this city and Colorado Springs, but no clue as to his whereabouts was found.

Seven Valiant Seamen

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 8 COMMODORE ISAAC HULL

It was to Commodore Isaac Hull, of the American navy, that the first British flag was struck on the ocean during the War of 1812, when the frigate "Guerrriere," commanded by Captain Dacres, was captured by the frigate "Constitution," after a close action of 30 minutes.

Captain Hull had been rendering valuable service to his country from the time as commander of the "Constitution," he had sailed out of Chesapeake bay on the 12th day of July. On the afternoon of August 12, 1812, while laying off the coast of Massachusetts, a ship was discovered from the masthead of the "Constitution." Captain Hull instantly made all sail in chase and soon gained on her. He discovered her to be the British frigate, "Guerrriere."

Captain James A. Dacres. This vessel had hoisted at her masthead a flag with her assumed name, the "Warrior," in large characters, and on another were inscribed the words, "Not the Little Belt," the latter being a British sloop-of-war that had been captured by the "Constitution." Captain Hull instantly made all sail in chase and soon gained on her. He discovered her to be the British frigate, "Guerrriere."

When the "Constitution" bore in sight the British commander, seeing his crew and assured them of an easy victory, which was answered by three hearty cheers. Eager for battle and hopeful of victory, Hull ordered the light sails to be taken in, the courses to be hoisted up and the ship to be cleared for action.

On the "Constitution" coming within gunshot the "Guerrriere" fired a broadside, expecting a reply from her adversary. In answer she was disappointed and fired another, and yet another, and received no reply. During this time, the "Constitution," not having replied the impatience of her officers and men to engage was so excessive that nothing but the most rigid discipline could restrain them.

Hull, however, was preparing with the utmost calmness and deliberation to decide the contest according to a method of his own. Making sail so as to bring the "Constitution" directly up with her antagonist and, being completely within half-pistol shot, Hull ordered brisk firing to be commenced from all the "Constitution's" guns, which were double-shotted with round and grape shot and so well directed and so warmly kept up was the American fire that in 15 minutes the misshapen mast of the "Guerrriere" went by the board, and her mainyard in her slings. The fire was kept up in the same spirited manner for 15 minutes longer by the "Constitution."

She had now taken a position for raking on the bows of the "Guerrriere" while the latter could only bring her broadsides to bear on her antagonist. The grape shot and the small arms of the "Constitution" completely swept the decks of the British frigate, and she was an utter wreck.

Thirty minutes after the commencement of the contest by the "Constitution," the "Guerrriere" was so completely disabled that Captain Hull ordered the firing to cease. Captain Dacres then struck his colors. At 7 o'clock in the evening she stood under the lee of the prize, and sent a boat on board, which returned in a short time with the British captain. It was learned that the British vessel was a complete wreck, and as soon, therefore, as all on board were removed, she was abandoned and her shattered hull set fire to and blown up.

"Captain Hull, in his tribute to his crew said: 'They all fought with great bravery; from the oldest seaman, not a look of fear being seen.' The news of this brilliant and unexampled victory, received with unbounded applause by the American people."

The generosity of Captain Hull and his crew extorted praise, even from the vanquished. "Captain Dacres, in his official letter, confessed their conduct to have been 'that of a brave enemy—the greater care being taken to prevent our men from losing the slightest article and the greatest attention being paid to the wounded.'" committee was authorized Wednesday night at the meeting of the full membership of the city affairs committee, at which time it was alleged that the recent consolidation of the Fox, Patterson and Evans coal properties, with several other properties of the northern fields under the name of the American Fuel company properties in the Rocky Mountain Fuel company are responsible for the increase in price.

The entertainment consists of a social and of three plays. The social will be given by the social committee. The plays will be given by the social committee.

ENTERTAINMENT PLANS TO DEPEND ON THE WEATHER

It is feared by those in charge of the entertainment program for the visitors from the National Commercial Gas Association convention, which closed in Denver yesterday, that the inclement weather will necessitate a departure from the original plans. If the weather is too stormy, the 300 guests who are expected to arrive this morning over the Colorado & Southern road at 10:20 o'clock will be entertained in the various hotels of the city.

However, it has been arranged to take the party through the Garden of the Gods this noon and give them an old-fashioned chuck roast, after which the party will go to Manitou. A trip up the Scenic Incline and through the various other places of interest in the region also has been planned, weather permitting.

The visitors will be met at the train late morning by the local committee from the association—J. F. Joseph, F. D. Morris and C. A. Sunderlin—together with a committee of business men. The ladies' committee, which will assist in the visitors' entertainment, consists of Mrs. F. D. Morris, Mrs. C. A. Sunderlin, Miss Edna Stokes, and Miss Frances West. Immediate upon arrival the party will be taken to the special street cars available from the depot and conveyed to South Park where a trip to Seven Falls will be made in carriages.

After the party will go to Crater Lake and the Short Line and will be given an opportunity to explore the Garden of the Gods.

At The Theater

LORCH COMPANY
FAREWELL TODAY

The farewell performances of the Lorch Stock company will be given at the Opera house this afternoon and night. "Rip Van Winkle" being the play. The Lorch company, after playing over six months in this city bids good-by to its hundreds of friends with these performances. Seats are reserved for tonight's play at the regular prices. The matinee is not reserved. Night prices are 10c, 20c, 30c and 50c. Matinee seats are 10c for children and 25c for adults, in any part of the theater.

Washington Irving's famous classic has never before been presented in this city at popular prices. Both Thomas and Joseph Jefferson have appeared here in this great drama, at advanced prices, but the Lorch production will be played at the regular stock prices. A sumptuous stage production has been made for this drama. The cast includes the entire strength of the Lorch company as it has been playing at the Opera house the last week.

The version which will be given tonight shows the following episodes from Irving's story. The village scene where Rip is driven away from home by his wife the mountain scene where he meets the curious dwarfs who put him to sleep the mountain scene 20 years later when Rip wakes up from his long sleep and the return scene in the village where Rip meets his son and grandchildren. Thus the story is well covered.

Following "Rip Van Winkle," a special added feature because of the farewell performance a short comedy will be performed.

WELSH CHOIR'S

COMMAND CONCERTS

The rulers of every nation give from time to time what is called a "command" performance. A ruler, for instance, instead of asking a singer to sing "commands" him to sing OR

There is no real command at all, it is in a way the duty of the ruler to be heard. But the theory is that a ruler should not be asked to sing, however good a singer, if he will be good enough to come to the palace and perform. Such "commands" are rarely refused. And a ruler's duty is to sing for the king of Europe, and very good singers of music, and have plenty of opportunity to hear the very best. It is perhaps not the least of the recommendations that the Mountaineers can show this year a performance that they gave before the late King Edward VII of England. The king has his own musical taste and it was only after a careful consideration of their merits that he ventured to present them at the St. James palace. That the king was enthusiastic over their work goes without saying, and he expressed himself to that effect in no uncertain terms. The Mountain Ash male choir gave two concerts in this city last year, with great success. The success of these singers in every city they have appeared this season has been phenomenal. They sang to a packed house in Denver, Monday, and gave a return concert in that city last night with the same unqualified success. They have appeared in the most important cities of this state this week with the same gratifying success. They will give a concert at the Opera house, Monday, night. Seats are now selling. The prices are 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50.

MUSICAL FEATURES
AT MAJESTIC TODAY

What ought to be, and therefore undoubtedly will be, one of the most popular bills the Majestic has had in months, opens at the popular vaudeville house this afternoon with a couple of mirthful musical acts that are sure to score heavily as features that will be especially well liked in this town of musical people.

The headliner is Phina, and of her nothing more need be said than that under another name, which is not a sobriquet, Phina is known as one of the cleverest women on the stage. But it might also be added that she has three other persons with her which will not spoil the surprise the act promises, but rather merely heightens the anticipation of its meritorious nature which is certain to be gratified. There is plenty of mirth and melody in this clever specialty.

Another act that is all to the merry is that of Shriner and Willis the two Varsity boys, in a repertoire of college songs, dances and patter that is surcharged with typical college atmosphere and so will meet an especially sympathetic reception in this college town. They offer something new and full of "pep" and are sure to prove favorites.

The Three Pearce Sisters will furnish more mirth and melody, their singing and dancing being something out of the ordinary and full of entertaining features.

An act of an entirely different sort is that of Welda and Serano, European artists who are marvels at hand balancing. The young lady is a wonderful athlete but nevertheless distinctly feminine and of such evident refinement as to impress all who see her.

The MajesticScope photoplays, "Chasing the Rainbows," will be a feature, with a comedy that is added attraction, and the concert orchestra program will put the finishing touches on a program that has everything in it to please.

Performances at 2:45, 7:30 and 9:10. Admission only 10c, 20c and 30c.

HAVE YOU SEEN CARLE?

If you never saw Richard Carle in former years don't fail to see him at the Opera house Tuesday night, with his latest success "Jumping Jupiter" for discerning critics have said that the elongated comedian was never so funny as in this play. Carle's plays are all constructed for laughing purposes only, and as he writes them himself, stages them himself, and acts the star part in them himself, he certainly has every opportunity to be as funny as the law allows. Crowds always flock to see Carle cut the capers that only Richard (Himself) Carle can cut and sing songs in that placid, quiet style that only Carle can assume. Carle has not been in this vicinity for a number of years, and the public has missed a treat in the tall, bald-headed, bespectacled genius who has a talent for amusing in a way which only he can achieve. "Jumping Jupiter" will amuse largely.

Next to the star, it is wise to admit that the play is the thing, and "Jumping Jupiter" is said to be the merriest musical farce of the year. It was elaborated by Mr. Carle from a tried and true farce by Sidney Rosenfeld called "The Purple Lady" and in its new form carries sufficient plot and probability to justify the fun and merriment. Mr. Carle plays the part of an expert on dermatology, a profession that endears him to the women of the plot. Through the enticement of an extra wife and his attempts to disentangle himself from the tangle of lies in which he has got himself, gives this original comedian ample opportunity.

The music is from the pen of Karl Moschka, that genius of melody who wrote "Madame Sherry," "Three Twins" and a host of other successes. In "Jumping Jupiter" he is at his best, and such numbers as "Little Girl I Love You" and "Raggle" will captivate the ear. Others which are popular are "I Like to Have a Piece of Men Around Me," "Thank You" and "The Strains of the Wedding March." Seats are now selling. The prices are 50c, $1, $1.50 and $2.

DENVER SITUATION COMPLEX

DENVER, Oct. 27.—The refusal of the United States supreme court to intervene in the case of the consolidation of city and county of Denver has caused all manner of speculation as to the effectiveness of the city charter.

The latest variation to which is whether a change in the form of civic administration would require a state constitutional amendment. The situation is made more complex by the wide divergence of opinion among prominent lawyers. One Attorney in Denver

OUTSPOKEN INSPECTOR IN LOS ANGELES DISMISSED

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Oct. 27.—Eugene F. Cushing, inspector of public works was dismissed by the board of public works of which Gen. Adm. H. Chaffee is a member, because he wrote a "sassy" letter to the board yesterday, representing what he considered a practical joke.

The board referred to Cushing a request to find a certain crematorium, which is a civil service colloquialism for garbage incinerator. Cushing did not know this, and in his letter to the board written after he had found out the joke he said he had used up precisely $15 worth of

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Health Talks

No man is stronger than his stomach. Make your stomach strong and you thereby fortify your system against the attacks of a long list of diseases which originate in the stomach and must be reached, if at all through the stomach. Thus torpid, or lazy liver, biliousness, dyspepsia, impure blood and various skin affections originate in weak stomach and consequent poor nutrition. The same is true of certain bronchial, throat and lung affections.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
Strengthens the stomach, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood making it rich, red and vitalizing and thereby curing the above and kindred affections.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insist that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but so don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If not promptly supplied trade elsewhere.
